EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Races at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10.—Ten thousand people witnessed the races of the Trotting Association here to day. In the first race for the 2.35 class, [illegible] heats were trotted. Lady Morrison won, Granville came in second, Little Sam third, Russell fourth, Vincent [illegible]. Best time 2.35½.

The second race, free for all, was between Gold[smith] Maid, Judge Fullerton and Red Cloud. The race was run only at the demand of the audience, who were very demonstrative when the announcement was made that he would not trot. Only 2 heats were run, the rest being postponed till to-morrow. Goldsmith Maid won both, though it is claimed she broke in the last one. Judge Fullerton broke both heats badly and was put back. Both heats were very exciting and closely contested. Time [illegible].

[illegible] Accident—A Pleasure Yacht Capsized—A Family Drowned.

ATLANTIC CITY, N J, July 10.—While the yacht J. B. Thompson was returning from a trip and cross[ing] the bar opposite this city, a heavy sea struck and capsized her. The following persons, residents of Philadelphia, were drowned: Daniel Otter, S. Sharpless and his wife, Caroline Sharpless, Master Alfred Sharpless and Anna W. Roberts, daughter of J. Roberts, proprietor of the Chalfonte House of this city. The body of Mrs Sharpless was recovered.

French Political News.

PARIS, July 10.—In the Assembly this afternoon [illegible] (Moderate Republican) asked leave to submit the following question to Gen. de Cissy, Vice [President] of the Council: "Whether it is claimed [by the] President of the Republic that he denies the [right] of the Assembly to determine whether the law of the 20th of November 1873 is irrevocable or not, [and] if it is denied that the President is responsible [to the Assembly]."

On motion of General de Cissy, debate on this in[terpellation] was postponed until constitutional bills [are] up for discussion.

[illegible] Utters his Opinion of the French Assembly.

PARIS, July 11.—An article in to-day's Figaro, in[veighing] against decisions of the Assembly, occa[sioned] much irritation among Deputies. There was a warm debate on the article, during which Dufayne [said] the Figaro had been suspended for two weeks. Nevertheless the Left moved that the inter[pellation] be postponed for a month. Brisson of the Left moved that the writer of the objec[tionable] article be called to the bar of the House [illegible] the Government of partiality in its pun[ishment] of journals. Brisson's motion was rejected after a speech by Gambetta, in which he hinted that [the Assem]bly was a corpse fit for the grave digger. The Left Center anticipate a majority of 15 for Casi[mir] Perier's bill which proposes the organization of the republic.

CANADA.

[Crisi]s in the Manitoba Ministry.

TORONTO, July 10.—A dispatch from Fort Garry [illegible] says the Ministry have been defeated on a direct motion of want of confidence. A new Anglo-French coalition Ministry had been formed as follows: M. A. Girard, Premier; R. A. Davis; E. H. Hay; G. Dubuc and J. Ogleree. Its policy will probably embrace the fixing of qualifica[tions], the representation on an extended basis, the [illegible] of the Legislative Council, an improved Judiciary and the reduction of public expendi[ture].

JAPAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Great interest was felt in [illegible] in the race between the Granada and [the] Vasco DeGama that port from San Francisco. On the 8th of June, near Yokohama, the Granada passed the Vasco DeGama, which was running at the rate of 14 knots. The Granada crowded steam and sail, passed the Vasco DeGama, and on the morning of the 9th was out of sight. The Vasco DeGama had the start from San Francisco of one day, and was beaten in the race five hours.

BOAT RACE.—Springfield, Mass., July 8th.—[illegible] Brown, of Halifax, to-day won the in[illegible] boat race for the championship of [illegible] five miles, for $2,000 a side. Time [illegible] and 45 seconds. His opponent was [illegible], of Pittsburg. The latter took [the lead] at first, but soon fell behind and was [illegible] precedence. Brown won by a [illegible] length and a half.

[illegible] and Clove celebrated jointly this year [illegible] good time.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Supreme Court will meet here next Monday. The rooms of the law library building, corner of Clay and Kearny, is not yet ready for occupancy.

The British steamer Peter will not return to Australia but will sail on the 23d for Yokohama and Shanghai and load tea and proceed to London via Suez Canal.

There were 86 deaths in the city during the week, 15 from cholera infantum. No small pox patients in the pest house and it is believed there is none in the city.

Greenbacks 90⅛ 90¼.

Owing to the disablement of a portion of her machinery off this port the steamer [illegible] had to be towed to her dock this morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—A man who gave his name as Jacob Jacobsen, was arrested to day for stealing $3,000 worth of cigars. When taken into custody he seemed much affected and asked to be taken to the City Hall in a wagon. An express wagon was hailed and he lay down in the box and was driven to the City Hall. But when the officers arrived there they found the old man was dead and his body was taken to the morgue.

The steamer Vasco De Gama from Hong Kong and Yokohama arrived this evening 24 days from the former port and 16 days 17 hours from Yokohama. She brings two days later dates, but the news is not of importance. She had 258 Chinese passengers. The P. M. S. S. China from the same port is now due.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Charles Kingstone's wine cellar at St. Helena, Sonoma, was burned yesterday. Loss about $30,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The P. M. S. S. China, 32 days from Hong Kong, arrived this afternoon. She brought 900 Chinese.

The Pacific mail steamer Arizona also arrived [illegible] days from Panama.

Buislay made a balloon ascension to day. When last seen he was driving into the clouds over Marin county. Those who recollect the fall of Clough and Austin into the ocean anticipate the same fate for him.

The weather is cold and [illegible].

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—A very destructive fire occurred here this afternoon on Brannan street, by which the tannery and morocco leather works of Robert Schenck & Co. and Griffith, were almost totally destroyed. The building was a three-story frame and the flames spread with fearful rapidity. About all the firemen could do was to save adjoining buildings. Robt. Schenck & Co's loss is about $18,000, insured for about one half of that amount. Griffith's loss is about $20,000; insurance $5,000.

At an early hour this morning fire broke out afresh in the coal establishment of Alynn & White, corner of Front and California streets, burned out on Thursday. The firemen worked about two and a half hours before the flames were again subdued. Additional damage not known, but will be considerable. A stream kept playing on the premises constantly, but as everything was flooded with inflammable oil the danger of a new conflagration was imminent.

Interior California.

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—Last night an alarm of fire was sounded and our citizens turned out to find the Aliso Mills in flames. The building was soon enveloped with flame from the ground floor to the roof. The mill was a three-story brick, with the usual amount of flame inside work of bins, elevators and machinery. Origin of the fire unable to learn. The stock in store was quite heavy, composed mostly of corn with some barley and a quantity of flour, but little was saved from the burning building. The building was the property of Messrs. Eugene Meyer, Gov. Downey and O. W. Childs. Loss $50,000.

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—The following additional particulars concerning the burning of Aliso Mills last night are authentic. The building was insured in the State Investment Company for $4,000, Hamburg & Bremen had a large policy on the property. The building was valued at $30,000 and was insured for $17,500. The stock of grain on hand was owned by Dunning & Co. and was valued at $7,000, and was uninsured. The walls of the mill are comparatively uninjured and it will be immediately rebuilt.

An Indian woman named Mary N[illegible], about 35 years old, supposed to be a native of San Bernardino, was found dead last evening. Jos. L. Whoum, who acknowledged to have been living with her for a month, said that she had been ailing most of the time. He denied that he or any one else had beaten her.

There are six men in the jail charged with the crime of murder, three of whom are accused of killing their wives.

J. A. Bell has discovered some quartz leads in the Cayah Alight mountains about six miles north of here, which are claimed to contain silver in paying quantities. Several assays of surface rock made here have shown from $8 to $16 per ton. Seven sacks of specimen ore were shipped to San Francisco for a more thorough trial. Considerable interest in the new discoveries has been created here and a company has been formed of prominent wealthy citizens to develop the leads.

ANTIOCH, July 12—7:30 P. M.—Balloon just passed here, going northeast.

CALISTOGA, July 12.—Chas. Kraegs' wine cellar and distillery, about 7 miles from here, was burned yesterday at 4 P. M. By the exertions of the neighbors, the residence and adjoining buildings were saved. The cellar is made of concrete and was one of the largest in the Valley, containing many thousand gallons of fine wines. The loss will be about $50,000, about $8,000 insurance. The fire was occasioned by the explosion of a brandy cask that was being charred inside.

Mrs. D. J. Wiley, who was injured a few days ago by the stage accident, died last evening.

The fire in the hills is still raging. Over 100 cords of wood are consumed.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, July 11.—The Union this morning has the following dispatches from Arizona:

STANWIX, July 10.—News is just received from Col. Wooley at Burk's station stating that the Mexican Ventura, who killed Whistler, has been captured. No further particulars.

TUCSON, July 10.—Last night about 9 o'clock Refugio Revina, a Mexican, went to the house of Refugia Marquez, a country woman of his, and stabbed her in the neck and body with a butcherknife, killing her instantly. Constable Esparza in arresting Revina soon afterward was seriously wounded in three places. Revina is about 20 years of age, has a bad character and was drunk at the time of the murder.

SAN DIEGO, July 11.—The Herald this evening has the following:

STANWIX, July 11.—The party who went in pursuit of [illegible] who committed the cold blooded murder upon G. R. Whistler on the 7th inst., returned on the night of the 9th with the prisoner. They captured him near the copper mines, 60 miles south of here, in the direction of Sonora. When they came up on him he was on foot, having ridden down his own horse and the Stage Company's horse which he had taken with him. He at once showed fight and tried to escape. After firing some twenty shots at him one of the party shot him through the left leg and effected his capture. He said: "Don't kill me." They told him they didn't wish to kill him, but would take him a prisoner. They then disarmed him, his pistol had but one load in and no cap. They then started back with him and arrived at Burk's Station at 10 P. M. on the night of the 9th. When arrested he acknowledged having done the deed and was also recognized by W. M. Matlock, the driver who escaped the day of the murder. The prisoner also had when taken the clothes he stole from the station. He was searched and $10 found in his left boot. He was then taken by a party of men who had assembled from various stations and put into a wagon, he not being able to walk on account of his wound, and hung to a tree near by. He would not confess anything further. The only word spoken by him when the rope was being adjusted about his neck was in his native tongue, "My friends, I have nothing to say."

THE FOURTH AT KALAMA AND CHEHALIS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

During last week I perused with much interest in your journal the reports of the celebration of our national holiday at various localities in the vicinity of or in ready communication with Portland. The real value of this class of reports is manifested in the fact that they furnish to those interested in the progress of this section of the northwest correct data upon which to make comparative estimates of the growth of population as it manifests by the various lines of transit furnished by railroad and steamboat enterprise, and [illegible] [illegible] in this [illegible] [illegible] three or four years.

Of the class of national celebrations referred to which is of immediate business interest to Portland as a widening area of its increasing facilities for intercourse with new communities by the effect of steam and railway lines, I ask permission to use the medium of your columns to draw the attention of your readers to a succinct detail of one of the leading celebrations that took place in this part of the country on the Fourth, and in which the city was largely represented by her citizens as assisted by those [illegible] in the trade connected with its preparation; a premonitory notice of which appeared in your advertising columns for a week or two previous to the Fourth.

The Fourth of July at Kalama.

Early in June the people of Kalama decided to have the day duly honored [illegible] [illegible] exercises and appointed Capt. D. W. Treat (one of the Kalama sharps) as Chief Manager in all the details of its preparation. The Captain accepted the duty, and being a member of the City Council had $100 of the municipal funds appropriated for fireworks and next engaged an extra train of cars for the day on the N. P. R. R. to run from Kalama to Chehalis station (fifty-two miles) near the residence of Delegate McFadden, now in Congress. The Captain getting all these matters fixed to his mind then came to this city and engaged the Portland Brass Band to make music for the occasion, to whom he paid $190 in the clearest of their services. He also applied for and obtained through the courtesy of Governor Grover [the] brass piece of artillery from Olympia, which reached Kalama by steamer to Tacoma and thence dispatched of course by rail. All these preparations indicated that the Captain meant business.

On the morning of the Fourth at 6 o'clock the Band marched on board the O. S. N. Co.'s boat Emma Hayward, which was crowded with excursionists down the river for [illegible] [illegible] to Kalama. A few minutes after the Emma Hayward arrived in sight of Kalama, when the [illegible] of cannon [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible] made things lively.

As soon as the boat reached the wharf, after the usual [illegible] between the crowd on shore and the excursionists, Capt. Treat marched the band up town and in front of the saloon of Gen. J. W. Sprague, where a compliment by serenade was tendered to this distinguished gentleman and his family, which was graciously acknowledged. Immediately thereafter [illegible] and Gen. Sprague proceeded toward the train, when the crowd at once filled the cars, knowing that his presence was the signal for starting. The General remained to take a hasty survey of all the arrangements and then stepped on board of the locomotive with the engineer, and accompanied the train to Chehalis.

On the route north about five or six hundred people were taken on at the different stations, who, with a good [illegible], [illegible] on hotel [illegible] who had preceded them on the ground in the vicinity in the morning, making [illegible] the [illegible], [illegible] what [illegible] in the gathering.

[illegible] collected in [illegible] groupings at [illegible] and about a grand [illegible] to a [illegible] [illegible] group to hear the orator of the day, Mr. N. H. B[illegible] of Kalama, who acquitted himself very creditably.

In addition to the picnic supplies brought along, Messrs. O'Brien and Dickey, of Kalama, had [illegible] and [illegible] on hand and on the ground sufficient to meet the demand.

At 5 P. M. the train, ready to return to Kalama, and after the usual [illegible] getting several hundred ladies and juveniles adjusted, Gen. Sprague again took his stand by the engineer and when all was in order he gave the order to start. The train stopped at more than twenty stations and by-places and discharged every passenger without the slightest accident to any person or thing.

In the evening at Kalama a ball, supper, fireworks, etc., took place, which kept the town lively most of the night, and at 6 A. M. the band and all others bound to Portland got on board the Rescue and were back home by 10 A. M. of the 6th, after traveling two hundred miles since the preceding morning.

Capt. Treat and others of the Committee of Arrangements express the utmost acknowledgments to Capt. Ainsworth for his courteous accommodation of furnishing a steamer for the special convenience of the Committee on the morning of the 6th as well as other tokens of his good will towards the celebration. The remarkable attention of Gen. Sprague to this special train, loaded with more than a thousand souls, deserves the thanks of the whole community, as the slightest interruption of routine, even without accident, might have created a panic in such a class of passengers as would tend to great danger.

The day closed with nothing to mar even good feeling, and as the train was handled directly under the eye of the Superintendent of the road to Gen. Sprague, I award the greatest meed for the fortunate issue of the day and its incidents.

KALAMA.

CELEBRATION EXTRAORDINARY

THE FOURTH THE INDIANS HAVE RECEIVED WITHIN THE LAST YEAR.

SILETZ AGENCY, July 6, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The long expected, anxiously looked for celebration of the Fourth by the Indians, assisted by the whites, is just past. Such a variety of interesting events seldom cluster together in one week, and just how to arrange them so that they will be equally appreciated by outsiders as well as dwellers in these parts is a matter of concern to every one who participated. It is only common courtesy and kindness to wish every one to enjoy what has given us so much satisfaction as the aforesaid celebration. It is commonly reported that the Indians are under the impression that the Fourth began sometime during the 2d, as the anvil commenced going off on that day, and continued to do so by fits and starts until the morning of the Fourth. On that momentous day it went off as many as several times, if not more. However it got back again.

The most surprising thing that happened was a spell of rheumatism which seized every wagon, hack and buggy—in fact every description of vehicle—on the 3d. We suppose the rainy season had a bad effect, but it was reported that persons not interested thought the difficulty not with the wagons, but that the powers that be were in a rheumatic state of mind superinduced by the fact of some one wishing to obtain conveyance to a neighboring town to attend a dance.

But dear me, Mr. Editor, how fortunate we didn't have to believe everything we hear; besides any one knows the wagons might have caught their death besides having their morals contaminated.

The morning of the Fourth dawned auspicious and lovely, the programme of affairs being introduced by the aforementioned anvil.

At an early hour every one to the number of 300 Indians and 50 whites, repaired to the woods to listen to speeches and music, and partake of a bountiful repast of beef supplied to the Indians by the Government. Chief Harney acted as interpreter and told the Indians what great things had been done for them, how much richer, happier and more virtuous they are now than a year or more ago. He counseled them for their general good. I could not tell them how many had cows and were making butter to sell, who two years ago were not in such a happy condition. Several little things I have forgotten to mention, among them the fact of Gen. Palmer having given these Indians the horses two years ago, and in the natural order of events they become cows. Another thing he told them: most of them were milking Government cows and making butter from them. No remarks were made about the foundation of the Indian church being laid, the Sabbath school organized, etc., under the previous administration, but such ommission [illegible] were not worth mentioning. Doubtless the orator did not wish to take the time away from the other delightful exercises, or else he forgot [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] due, but as usual [illegible] disposed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] thinking of it. The Indians never will [illegible] believe [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] dinner [illegible] dancing in the afternoon and evening, in which exercises all were recommended to join, others with them a multitude of delinquencies. The dancing in the afternoon was entirely [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and decked off with feathers. They all arranged themselves in two lines, the women [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] two or three did not note; they danced straight up and down. Some of the more prominent ones danced at intervals, [illegible] then on the other; at the same time swinging their bodies one way and the other, contorting themselves so curiously [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. What one of the crowd threw up their hands [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] bunch of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] such savage [illegible] [illegible] devil [illegible] good ways from being [illegible] even civilized. Well not only they [illegible] the same right to have a glorious Fourth as any one. Doubtless they [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] as [illegible] and [illegible] the only enjoyment that is granted to them, and who shall direct any that we are [illegible] right, [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] the whole [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] at their [illegible] [illegible].

The exercises of the day closed with a ball at the [illegible] in the evening. Here the dancers [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] white folks. Some curious [illegible] [illegible]. One would think [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Portland and San Francisco, but the idea that [illegible] should have any curiosity [illegible] [illegible] Indian [illegible] [illegible] a very [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] came [illegible] [illegible] Sunday morning, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] costing several hundred [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] children of the [illegible] in a happy frame [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Government [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the first [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] parts [illegible].

CONVALESCENT.

THE BRUTAL HURDLE

[illegible] [illegible] New York [illegible] [illegible] June [illegible]: [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] out of the [illegible] [illegible] two [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] steeple chase [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Monmouth Park [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the death of two well known riding [illegible] and the [illegible] injury of another. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] hurdle in the second [illegible], throwing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] jockey but [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] and the succeeding [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to rise no more. He had when he fell [illegible] only by his [illegible] and [illegible]. But few knew of his death, as the very storm of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] crowd [illegible] for [illegible]. The others [illegible] was Victor. His [illegible] was injured [illegible] [illegible], the last hurdle, but [illegible] [illegible] the race and [illegible] the second place. An examination was made and it was found that he was per[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and it was necessary to [illegible] him. [illegible] [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] circles at the [illegible] of these two steeple chasers.

The other casualty was that of George [illegible] who fell during the race. His injuries are serious.

COMETS' COMING.—The head of the comet will never be near enough to this world to alarm the timid. Its closest approach is not much, if at all, nearer than that of the planet Venus when she is least remote. The horrid hair that shakes down bolides and aerolites it not pestilence and war will not approach us. But there is a fair probability, dependent only on the question of its less or greater curvature than [illegible] the customs of such extremities, that we shall be enwrapped in the hazy glories of the comet's tail. The analysis of the light of heavenly bodies is yet so recent that very few comets have been examined by the spectroscope, and those only of the smaller kind. The observations so far as they go indicate that the nucleus is to some extent composed of the vapor of carbon, its spectrum being somewhat like that given by olefiant gas or olive oil. The present comet will be the first since the invention of the spectroscope to provide a tail bright enough for the investigations of that instrument. Let us possess our souls in patience and keep as cool as we can in the prospect of breathing a celestial atmosphere.—N. Y. Tribune.

LYNN'S DIGNITY.—A Minnesota paper gives this fresh instance of feminine mercy. A young lady of Hutchinson who is fair to look upon, and puts on a good deal of style, and would like to be popular, and who dwells in a house that, while it is decent and respectable, is not grand, had the luck some time since to receive an introduction to a gentleman from a neighboring town. It was at church that she was made acquainted with him, and he asked to see her home. She accepted and they started. It occurred to her as they walked onward that after what she had said it could hardly do to enter her humble dwelling for the [illegible] [illegible] she [illegible] [illegible] was not what she seemed. A few houses distant from hers stands a fine looking residence, before which she halted. He not being acquainted with Hutchinson, or her, supposed of course that everything was all right and left the gate with bright visions dancing through his brain, while she hid behind the stoop until he got out of sight and then went home happy.

POPE PIUS IX.—Says the Cincinnati Gazette's Rome correspondent concerning Pius IX: Here is the certificate of his birth and baptism as taken from the register in the parish church of Sinigaglia:

In the name of God, Amen. I, the undersigned, perpetual vicar and pastor of the illustrious Cathedral and parish church of the Apostle Saint Peter in Sinigaglia, certify as follows:

May 13th, seventeen hundred and ninety-two (1792), Sunday. The most illustrious John Mary John Baptist Peter, Pellegrino Isidore, son of the noble Count Jerome Mastai Ferretti and of the Countess Catharine Sollazzi, his wife, of this parish, was baptized by the most Reverend Canon Don Andrew Mastai. He was born at 6 o'clock of the Saturday preceding.

PETER VALENTURINI,
Perpetual Vicar.

AN OPINION AS IS AN OPINION.—It belongs to the middle class comets, distinguished rather for thorough respectability than for any flaming and inordinate display of tail. It will, however, be quite as useful as an object for the contemplation of young men and young women during the summer months as it would be were it double the size, and as in the view of scientific persons this is the principal object for which comets were created, the comet of 1874 will thoroughly fulfill its destiny.

THE TERRITORIES

The mail route between Olympia and Yeam [illegible] has been discontinued.

[illegible] Halldran, who killed Hannan, at Placerville a few days ago, has not yet been arrested.

The people of Tumwater spread not a shred of bunting to the breeze on the glorious Fourth.

Parties in Olympia are making arrangements to establish a salmon fishery on Skookum Bay.

Large amounts of timber for the lumber mills down the Sound passed by Steilacoom last week.

Several hundred head of sheep from Oregon arrived at Kalama on Wednesday on the way to the Sound.

Cutting hay is the pastime of Vancouver merchants in their spare moments, which are many at this season.

Dennis Crowley of Granite Creek was thrown from a horse near Hon. Ben. [illegible] [illegible] days ago and had his skull broken.

Major [illegible], District Attorney for [illegible] and [illegible] counties, Idaho, is spoken of as a candidate for Delegate to Congress.

Mr. Humphreys, father-in-law of Judge Kelly of Boise City, aged 81 years, arrived at that place last week, overland from Wisconsin.

E. J. Kellogg, of Boise City, made a careless step on the Fourth, sprained his ankle and broke his leg in two places, all at the same time.

The Vancouver Independent says the people of [illegible] river are very much displeased by the discontinuance of their post office and have petitioned for its re-establishment.

There has been a change in the schedule time between the Dalles and Klickitat Valley post offices. It now leaves the Dalles on Saturday instead of Monday as heretofore.

Rev. J. F. Holmes, now of Port Townsend, but formerly of Olympia, has received and accepted a call from a parish in British Columbia. It is situated, we believe, on Vancouver Island.

L. S. Kearney, Esq., is the coming man for Delegate to Congress in Washington Territory. He is very popular in Eastern [illegible] gentleman and should he accept the candidacy will be hard to beat.

Recently a chute was built in the South Bay mill dam, Olympia, for carrying logs through, but the inflowing force of its structure caused it to give way a few days ago and the water completely cleared it out.

Mrs. Volwinkle, the widow of A. Volwinkle, who was killed last winter by Horrigan, was struck with paralysis last Friday afternoon at her residence in Vancouver. She is in a critical condition.

Smelt were very plenty at Tacoma last week. On one night they came so close to the beach that Indians and others caught hundreds of them by simply striking them with sticks and drawing them out of the water.

The residence of Mrs. O'Brien in the [illegible] [illegible] section of Battle Ground neighborhood, Clarke county, W. T., was destroyed by fire a few days ago. A subscription is being taken [illegible] [illegible] to rebuild.

Wm. H. W[illegible], of Yakima, arrived from [illegible], the Cascades.

The ferry now in the Olympia and Tenino [illegible] [illegible] now at Mill [illegible] from working [illegible] [illegible] intervening [illegible] having all been [illegible] [illegible]. There is only a small force of about twenty-five hands on the road.

A farmer named Wall, in North river, living near American [illegible], near Steilacoom, while going [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] fell [illegible] [illegible] from his wagon, striking on his head. He [illegible] lay [illegible] [illegible] paralyzed and died in [illegible] afternoon. He was a native of Ireland and about sixty-five years old.

John Wilcot, while mining on Dry Creek, near Boise City, a few days ago, was caved off [illegible] bank and struck in the back with a rock, receiving severe injuries and covering him up with the dirt, but leaving his head exposed. They turned the hose on and sluiced him out, but found his injuries very severe.

Married on the 4th of July in the Council House at the Skokomish Indian Agency, by Rev. Myron Eells, the following Indians: Robert Burns and Sallie; Billy Waterman and Susie; David Charley and Ellen; Rob Lewis and Julia; Andy Johnson and Annie; Patrick Henry and Jane; Bill Charley and Mary, all of the Skokomish Reservation.

The Bozeman Courier of June 18th says: There seems to be no question that the Jefferson river mines are very extensive and full of gold. Intelligent miners are satisfied that they will pay big. We learn that claims are staked for fifty miles all along the river from Judge Dake's place to the Big Hole, in Madison county, embracing Silver Star.

The County Commissioners of Thurston county, W. T., met pursuant to notice at the Auditor's office in Olympia July 10th, and ordered that a vote of the people on the proposition to bond the county in the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars to complete and stock the Olympia and Tenino Railroad be taken on the 8th day of August. The interest decided upon is eight per cent per annum.

The Vancouver Register says: Mr. E. L. Dole returned from Silver Star quartz ledge on Tuesday last, bringing with him several pieces of the quartz which were taken out at the depth of about 25 feet from the surface. These specimens were taken to the assay office in Portland and assayed $41.17 silver and 63.72 lead to the ton. The assay is very encouraging to the prospectors and gives hope that richer deposits will yet be struck in this lead.

W. J. Thurman's little son Willie shot his sister, eight years old, with a rifle. The shot, which was accidental on the boy's part but careless on part of his parents, struck the right leg of the little girl as it was doubled up under her, entering nearly in front, half way between the knee and hip, passing through the thick portion then passing into the calf below the knee, ranging downward toward the ankle, striking the under edge of the shin bone and flattening the ball, where it lodged.

Mr. Joseph Deaves, a farmer who lives about eight miles from Olympia on the Steilacoom road, lost nine sheep, killed by a cougar about ten days ago. His dogs treed the animal, but having no balls or buck-shot he loaded his gun with an iron spike about three inches long, and, approaching very near the tree, shot the cougar, killing it almost instantly. It was a very large one, and Mr. Deaves was very fortunate in killing it in that manner. It was a dangerous experiment and one which but few would like to undertake.

The Tacoma Tribune says: Mr. Fleming, the Scotch immigrant agent, whom we have mentioned several times before, was very well pleased with the country between Tacoma and Kalama and has spoken to the N. P. R. R. Department for large tracts of it. He wants 20,000 acres of the fertile lands on Hanaford Creek, in Lewis county, on which to locate one hundred thirty Scotch families, forty of whom will very soon be starting for their distant future homes. Mr. Fleming has arranged to have his company carried from Liverpool to New York, thence by rail to San Francisco, and thence by steamer to Kalama or Portland, at the very low rate of seventy-five dollars a person.

The Owyhee Avalanche of July 4th says: "We publish to day the testimony elicited at the Coroner's inquisition held at Placerville in this county to inquire into the killing of David Hannan. This testimony shows it to have been a most atrocious murder. The offender has so far eluded the officers, but he will most likely be captured, as he should be. Every interest of society and of civilization demands the prompt and severe punishment of the willful murderer, and the time has come when such characters should be made to know that Idaho is not the place for the exercise of their brutal proclivities. We hope justice, so long outraged in Boise county, will be vindicated now in such a prompt manner that similar acts will occur but seldom hereafter."

The following Jackson county men have bills against the Government which Congressman Luttrell says will be settled immediately: Jacob Ish $2,246 03, Jay Beach $76 50, Geo. Nourse $86 88, Judson Small $113 17, Alex. Martin $168 20, John Kafedar $40, White & Martin $105 90, John Pearson $72, Joseph Lousignant $72, J. B. Markham $208.

An old lady residing near Silverton named Keizur died very suddenly on Tuesday last week. She was in apparent good health, having attended a campmeeting on the previous day, and exhibiting no signs of disease whatever. While sitting on a chair on the day in question she passed away without a struggle. She was upwards of seventy years of age.

The Yreka Journal learns that an Oregonian named Miller has been arresting persons for traveling a portion of the road to Linkville via Balls, a road that has been traveled ever since the settlement of the country, and the only way at present to reach Linkville with a wagon. The two men arrested for driving over the land claimed by Miller in Oregon, had a jury trial at Linkville, and after a hot contest were acquitted, though Miller intends taking an appeal to the higher courts at Jacksonville.

Advices from Josephine say that matters will be apt to go rather rough with the Briggs family for the murder of John Delmatter, the school teacher. Dr. Matthias held an inquest over the remains of Delmatter last week, and it appears from the evidence elicited that the deceased was of good character and entirely innocent of the charges made by the Briggs family. It seems to have been an attempt to force him to marry the girl, and refusing to do so he lost his life. Mrs. Briggs and her son David are in jail, bail having been refused them. Their examination was to begin last Saturday.

There are at least five Granges on Long Tom, also four or five sawmills and one flouring mill at Monroe, and another is needed on the main stream, twenty miles further south, to supply the wants of the people. Long Tom precinct is from ten to twenty miles south of Long Tom postoffice, to which point mail for said precinct is frequently sent. Monroe, Long Tom, Oregon, is twenty miles north of Long Tom postoffice, and Franklin, at Smithfield, Long Tom, Oregon, is eight miles north of Long Tom postoffice, and Siuslaw, Long Tom, Oregon, is twelve miles south of Long Tom postoffice.

The Salem Record learns from a reliable source that another institution of learning will be established within our State, and probably at the city of Salem. The capital stock of a University Fund has, in a very quiet manner, been nearly all taken by citizens in the East. Professors of the highest ability will be engaged in its management. It will be non-sectarian. All branches of a first class University will have a place, and the [illegible] articles of incorporation are now [illegible] prepared for that purpose by one who [illegible] [illegible]. STOCK AGAIN

A few days since we gave our readers a short chapter on railway stock It was attempted to explain the nature of stock in a corporation from a legal standpoint, and to show how by a sort of legerdemain, that which has no intrinsic value, which represents exactly nothing, so far as investment is concerned, is made to draw interest the same as money invested But we had not then noticed a report of certain proceedings before a Committee of the Connecticut Legislature, in which the stock swindle is set forth in a still stronger light In order that our readers may clearly perceive the point to the extract below which is from the testimony of Mr Wm D Bishop a prominent railway contractor we premise that the laws of Connecticut prohibit the issuing of bonds on any railway to an amount greater than one third of the actual cost of the railway and Mr Bishop is explaining how that provision is evaded

Suppose a given road is to be built whose actual cash cost will be $1 000 000 Certain schemers desire to build that road as a speculation, and to obtain the money for its construction entirely on bonds and then make what they can on the stock as clean profit The operation is this They make a contract for the construction of that road for $4 000,000, payable $2,000 000 in stock and $1 000 000 in first mortgage bonds intending that the bonds shall build the road Now the question comes, 'How can we make certificates to the Controller of the State from time to time as the work progresses so that we can get the bonds sufficient to build the road?' The plan is this We will suppose during the first month of the contract $100 000 of actual cash work is performed The contractor is then entitled to receive $200 000 in stock and $100 000 in bonds; $200,000 of stock is issued, and when issued to the contractors, is charged upon the books of the company as $200 000 of full paid stock. The contractor then is credited also with $100,000 due him in bonds on account of the contracts They then make a certificate that according to the books of the company the road stands in up to that time at a cost of $300 000, and on the strength of that they issue $100 000 of bonds certified by the Controller of Public Accounts

And here is his idea of the remedy for this species of swindling

In the first place, there is no railroad anywhere in the State of Connecticut that can be built at this time that should be permitted to issue the first solitary bond and put it out upon the market until they have graded their road furnished their right of way and prepared the roadway for the rails When a railroad company has its roadway in that condition it has then a little basis on which to issue bonds, but not much If the road doesn t prove to be a paying road if it doesn t pay its running expenses, the grading and the bridging and the right of way form no security whatever for a single dollar of the bonds because if the road stands incomplete the right of way reverts to the landholders and all the improvements put on it Hence I say that in Connecticut where no railroad can be constructed with the certainty of its being a paying road for several years, not a bond should be issued until the road is graded and the bridges built ready for the superstructure, Then they should be permitted to issue bonds sufficient to pay for 50 per cent of the rails and the ties and the superstructure and when they have all their rails etc paid for, then it would be safe to permit bonds enough to be issued to enable them to purchase their equipment. But the minute you go beyond that unless you are sure at the start that the road will pay something beyond its actual running expenses, you are giving to the bondholders who invest their money a security upon which no reliance can be placed

These are the ideas, doubtless, of a man whose experience entitles them to careful consideration The New York Tribune says 'they seem reasonable and sensible" They appear to us reasonable and sensible enough, inasmuch as they suggest a remedy for an acknowledged wrong, but why so much machinery to accomplish what could be done by a process so much simpler The contractor by taking this $200,000 of stock—adopting Mr Bishop's illustration—does not get anything of present value, he only promises to pay $200,000 toward building the road If he does $200 000 worth of work in good faith for this stock, in addition to the $100,000 for which he receives cash, then it may be properly certified that the road has cost $300,000, but in the case put by Mr Bishop the stock stands for nothing in legal contemplation, the certificate is simply a falsehood and the issuing of all the bonds over one third of $100,000 is a plain violation of the law, and should be so treated without waiting for further legislation The sending to the penitentiary of a few of the men who certify this lie to the Controller, and the impeachment and punishment of the Controllers who issue their false certificates in such cases, would correct the abuse very thoroughly.

People are just getting their eyes open on the question of the legal status of corporation stock, and are just beginning to see that there is no magic in the name to make white black or black white It is well for the whole country that the foundations of these stock operations are undergoing examination

The views we have expressed on this matter are those upon which corporations proceed mainly in England, whether in the building of railways or in minor enterprises

BEECHER TILTON TO BE INVESTIGATED

Eminently proper is the action just announced of Mr Beecher in demanding an investigation of the facts in the scandal of which he is the subject, and likewise that of Plymouth Church in acceding to his request and setting the investigation on foot. Nothing short of a thorough ventilation of the entire matter will suffice to meet the requirements of the case The press of the East almost without a dissenting voice declare this is the only course left to the eminent gentleman whose character is thus seriously implicated and to the congregation who sit under his ministrations So long as the grave charges made against him found utterance only through the medium of an abandoned woman whose sole claim to be heard was that she had become notorious by the boldness of her attack upon the most sacred institutions and relations of human society, so long Mr Beecher and his Church did wisely in paying no attention to the matter But when the story of this creature is corroborated in its principal features by the strongest possible implication if not in so many words, by a person of the standing and character of Theodore Tilton, and the more especially when a document is published which under all the circumstances can not be interpreted otherwise than an acknowledgment of the accusation, it is time the facts were explained Such a document is the extract from a letter of Beecher to Tilton embodied in Tilton's article It is not impossible in the nature of things that this letter may refer to something wholly foreign to the scandal But all the circumstances, so far as they have transpired would lead one to refer it to that and to nothing else And the assertion of Mr Beecher's friends that the letter is a forgery is evidence that they regard it a very damaging one If, therefore it refers to some other wrong done to Tilton by Beecher the explanation should be forthcoming with the evidence to substantiate it and if it is a sheer forgery, that fact should be made known At all events Mr Beecher can not afford to be silent No more can Plymouth Church Silence, under all the circumstances would be exactly tantamount to confession Beecher must take the affirmative now Here is a prima facie case against him and upon him devolves the burden of proof And Plymouth Church, for its own sake must see to it that the matter is cleared, or else it must purge its pulpit Not even the most eminent preacher in the world, which we suppose it may be truthfully said Beecher is, can maintain the character of his congregation among other religious bodies so long as he tacitly confesses irregularities of the character charged against Beecher

WHEN HAS ANY OTHER PARTY DONE AS MUCH?

With all its shortcomings the Republican party has done that which no party ever did before, and for which it deserves praise It has investigated itself and though the results of this investigation have not all been quite so manifestly free from partisan bias as the most complete judicial impartiality might desire, they have nevertheless uncovered much that would otherwise have remained hidden and done much toward purifying the public service There has been some "white-washing" and a good deal of shilly shallying about honest purposes in the commission of acts palpably dishonest, but there has also been a large amount of straightforward courageous inquiry and many instances of prompt action upon cases wherein the person investigated has been shown to be guilty of vicious practices An instance of this was the Credit Mobilier inquiry which drove its guilty victims out of sight whether they were the greater or the lesser lights of the party Another case in point was that of the District of Columbia, which ended in the whole corrupt crew of District officers being bundled out of the Government on short notice And when the principal party to the corruptions was named for a position in the new Government by the President who seems to be possessed of an unaccountable attachment to the man referred to, the Senate promptly and by a vote that was all but unanimous, testified their opinion of the presentation of his name by refusing their assent to his appointment The Republican party has received some very hard knocks of late, and in our humble judgment it has got fewer blows than it has deserved, but it can not be denied that its course in responding to the demand of the press and the people for investigation and publication of the official record of its members, notwithstanding the work has been far from complete or thorough in some instances, is a thing to be proud of

DEFECTS IN THE GAME LAW

The experience of two years under the operation of the game law has demonstrated that it is very defective in several important particulars The object of the law is the protection of game against destruction Before its passage game was taken without regard to condition or time which frequently left the young and helpless to die for want of the attention of the old Thus the killing of one bird was the destruction of a large number and the take of one deer or elk might be the loss of one or two more Also there was wanton and reckless slaughter of elk in the full solely for the sport of killing them, or for the hide This wanton destruction of game is perhaps as well provided against by the game law as it could be Any provision on this subject is likely to prove but partially effective But the law for the protection of game against the other mode of destruction is lame It allows the killing of deer as early as the 1st of July This is entirely too soon The young fawns are by no means able to take care of themselves thus early We hear the opinion very generally expressed especially in the country, where most is known on this subject that the 1st to the 15th of August is quite as early as the season for taking deer should begin And the same is true with relation to grouse and pheasants These may be killed after the first of July, while quail are not to be taken till August The time for pheasants and grouse should not begin earlier than August Young grouse are scarcely flying now and yet they may be lawfully killed or they may be lawfully left to die for want of the old bird Those who do not oppose the game law itself are, we believe united in the opinion that the time for all game should be as late as the first of August if not later. This is a matter upon which the approaching Legislature may devote a few minutes of its time to good advantage

ANOTHER MANUFACTORY BURNED

It seems as if fortune had some particular spite against manufactories in Portland Every fire of importance for years has destroyed one or more manufacturing establishments The Oregon Iron Works Mr Walker's large sash and door house twice the Smith Brothers foundry, Hurgren & Shindler's furniture factory, Vaughn's mill, Hyneman's foundry, three extensive lumbering establishments, besides a large number of other manufactories have been destroyed by the different fires that have visited the city The last was the burning of the Salt Works and the partial destruction of the Willamette Iron Works Saturday evening

Such calamities are much more seriously felt than would be the consuming of an equal amount of property of any other description Employment, at all times hard enough for working men to obtain, is rendered still more difficult by every occurrence of this kind The entire community feels this class of calamities

SOME EXTRAORDINARY LAW

PORTLAND July 11 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit a constant reader of your paper to express through its columns his surprise at the position taken by you this morning with regard to the law of Congress conferring jurisdiction in certain cases upon the criminal courts of the District of Columbia You seem to think the act in some way interferes with the liberty of the press and that it especially subjects publishers remote from Washington to be dragged to the District for trial for libel in case the libel complained of is circulated in the District How does it affect publishers differently from other offenders? What power does it confer on the Court of the District that did not exist in the other Federal Courts

I am a lawyer and I have practiced in your city for a good many years and I must confess that as a lawyer and knowing you to be one also I am at a loss to see how you can put any such construction on the section you quote That section provides that all offenses for the trial of which jurisdiction was not specially conferred on some other court shall be triable in the criminal court mentioned That is all there is of it There is no attempt to fix the locus in quo in libel cases or in any other cases. With out discussing the question whether a libel is not by the already existing laws, published according to the legal meaning of that word wherever it is circulated I beg you to explain by what rule of construction you reach the conclusion you have announced with reference to the effect of the section you cite Yours truly L F N

We give it up Our correspondent is unquestionably right The article in the OREGONIAN referred to was written hastily and we must admit without careful examination of the act in question and with the late Buell persecution in the mind of the writer—ED OREGONIAN]

PUBLIC OPINION

It might be just as well to ask your Representative in Congress some time during the summer or fall whether he intends to vote next session for the incomputable subsidy which the Centennial Ring have been scheming for and which they will again continue to try to screw out of Congress as soon as it resumes its sessions —Cincinnati Commercial (Ind)

It is a curious commentary upon the state of morals in the District of Columbia that among all its citizens only Boss Shepherd was found worthy to be appointed on the Board of Commissioners for the Government of the District —Springfield (Ill) Journal (Rep)

Matt Carpenter after the 4th of March 1875, will in all probability have to take his place with the Pomeroys Caldwells, and Harlans that have gone before —Detroit Free Press (Dem)

Senator Howe is said to be writing the address of the Republican Congressional Committee It will probably be like its author's memory—remarkable for what it does not contain —N Y Tribune

This little remark from the Boston Traveler savors of disrespect Postmaster General Creswell resigned office on Wednesday and received the usual buttering from the President

The men of Congress who concocted and voted for the law robbing the press of its constitutional liberties should be hunted out man by man and defeated in the coming elections —Troy Whig (Rep)

CITY.

DASHING RUNAWAY.—One of the most exciting runaways of the season occurred yesterday afternoon. A young gentleman hired a two-horse buggy and team at the livery stable of Sears & Wilmer, and started out for a drive. After circulating around for a short time the driver stopped at a house and carelessly left the team standing unhitched at the gate. While he was absent the horses started off. Away they dashed down Sixth street at a fearful rate. Before B street was reached the buggy was capsized and dragged for some distance. At length the team collided with a pile of wood, and tore loose from the vehicle. The team ran on some distance and jumped down a steep embankment about ten feet, where they came to a halt. The carriage was badly demoralized, the body, dashboard and springs broken and smashed up and the spokes all bent straight. It will cost the driver a round sum to repair damages. The horses came off with a few scratches.

ACCIDENT TO THE BARK OREGON.—The bark Oregon, of Dundee, Scotland, one of the new ships being built by and belonging to the Oregon Shipping Company of that city was early in May fully equipped and ready to sail on her first voyage to this port, direct from Dundee. She was launched at Montrose near Dundee, upon the 15th of May and took the water gracefully but unfortunately, through some misunderstanding or other, the anchor was forgotten to be cast in time and the vessel immediately after being launched was dashed against the rocks on the banks of the river and got much damaged. The loss sustained amounted to nearly $10,000. This is the vessel, it will be remembered that Mr Wm Reed, now of this city, the Shipping Company's agent here, had christened the Oregon before he left Dundee. The vessel has been again placed in dock, but will not have her repairs fully completed in time to reach Portland this year.

HORSE SUBDUED.—Mr R. H. Tapp the horse trainer, subdued a very vicious horse, which was brought up from Sauvie's Island last week at his school on Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of spectators. This animal was without doubt one of the most vicious and intractable brutes ever brought under subjection to any man in the State. Tapp entered the enclosure with nothing but a whip in his hand, and after a long siege succeeded in completely subduing the horse. It took him fully one hour to accomplish with the animal what it usually required to conquer any other horse in fifteen minutes. At the end of the time the horse was as gentle and docile as a lamb and yesterday a small boy was riding him about the streets.

PASSENGERS ON THE WAY.—The steamer Ajax, which sailed from San Francisco for Portland on Saturday, brings the following passengers: H Boyd, W Miller, Dr F I Smith, wife and 2 children, J N Smith wife and daughter, Mrs H M Purinton, Mrs H Somery, A T Smith, G L Corley, J W Robb, wife and two children, Jno N Smith, C S Smith, D L Leathers wife and two children, Miss Julia Wilde, C Kelly and wife, C B McDonald, E B Whitman, L Kinnear, E K Davidson, Mrs Dr Barrett and child, Miss E J Roop, Miss A Walton, Mrs Barrows, H Savonis, J R Erringer, Jr, A H Bley, A Pachscher, W J Hardy, J B Eisenbach, I P Splt, A C Farnsworth.

NEEDS A HEATER.—A small appropriation by the Common Council could be very advantageously used in the purchase of a heater for the steam fire engine belonging to Multnomah No 2. In consequence of having cold water in the boiler, that engine was not able to get water on the fire last Saturday evening for some time. A very trifling sum—not to exceed $30—would get a heating apparatus. That sum could not possibly be expended to better advantage.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, July 12, 1874:

	7 A M.	2 P M	9 P M
Thermometer	58°	72°	61°
Wind, direction	N	N	N
" velocity	12	6	6
Weather	Fair	Clear	Clear
Max temperature			7[illegible]°
Rainfall			0 00

AT VOOS VILLA.—There was a constant stream of people pouring out of the city towards Voos Villa yesterday. The attractions were given up by the Congregation Beth Israel for the benefit of the Sabbath-School in connection with the Synagogue. The day was pleasant, and from the beaming countenances of those returning it was evident that they had enjoyed themselves.

THANKS RETURNED.—Mr Peter Taylor of the Willamet Iron Works, desires us to return thanks to the members of Columbia Co No 3 having got the first water on the burning and also for their gallantry in fighting the flames and in the very material service rendered in saving the Iron Works from being destroyed.

THE FIRE.

McCRAKEN'S SALT WORKS DESTROYED.

About 15 minutes to 6 o'clock on Saturday evening an alarm of fire was sounded from the several engine houses of the city. Simultaneous with the first tap of the bell huge volumes of black smoke were seen rising from the vicinity of the Willamet Iron Works. Scarcely one minute elapsed and a narrow sheet of flame was observed to burst from its confinement and leap forth like a fiery demon intent on destruction. Those who had arrived near the scene of the conflagration were able to locate with certainty the fire. It was the large wharf, warehouse and salt works owned by John McCraken which were on fire. Hundreds and thousands of our citizens aroused by the continued ringing of the bells ran to the doors and windows with the exclamation on their lips "It is only a false alarm as usual." But one glance at the wreaths of black smoke which rose like a threatening cloud and darkened the whole northern heavens betokened in an unmistakable manner the presence of the fell destroyer. Visions of those two terrible and never to be forgotten days in the history of our young city—December 22d 1872 and August 2d 1873—rose up with painful vividness in the minds of all. Men, women and children dropped everything and started for the fire. In all directions the streets and sidewalks were jammed with the hurrying, jostling throngs pressing forward with all speed towards the same destination. Confusion as usual prevailed and nothing but the hurried tramp of human feet, the rattling of drays and trucks and the shouts of the firemen could be heard. Some cried the steamship dock was on fire, some the gas works and others the Willamet Iron Works, but soon the mass of flames which shot up and surged wildly to and fro set aside all conjectures and settled the fact as to where the fire really existed.

With their proverbial alacrity the Fire Department responded to the call, and were promptly at the scene. But the fire was not discovered until it had gained considerable headway. The building was filled in part with dry, combustible material, and a stiff wind swept up the river from the north, so that before the engines could possibly arrive on the ground and commence operations the whole structure was one mass of flames. Fanned by the breeze and fed by the combustible materials, the flames spread with alarming rapidity and the intense heat drove the firemen back. For a time it was thought that the fate of the Iron Works was sealed and also of the Gas Works which stood north of the burning building. Immense quantities of sacked salt were stored along near the northern wall of the burning building. These acted as a fire-proof bulwark against the further progress of the flames in that direction. Favored by this circumstance and also the direction of the wind the firemen and employes of the foundry were enabled to get much nearer and work more effectively. Screening themselves behind the wall of salt a hose was introduced and the roof and side of the foundry kept well saturated with water. Meantime several powerful streams were directed against the main body of the fire. Fifteen minutes play on the heart of the flames brought them down within the limits of subjection and they were quickly subdued, although one of the steam fire engines did not leave the scene for several hours, watching lest the element should burst forth afresh.

On the southern side of the works the firemen had very hot work to save the wharf. The wind which rose as the fire increased carried large quantities of cinders in that direction, which together with the intense heat, rendered it quite difficult to prevent the roof from catching. An engine was stationed at the foot of C street which furnished abundant water to keep the shingles and the end of the building saturated, and thus prevented the fire from communicating. It was a close call, but vigilance and effective work carried the day against the destroying flames. Full well the gallant firemen knew that if the flames reached the northern end of Flanders wharf its progress could not be stayed ere many blocks of the city were laid in ashes, and it was at that point the main battle was fought. Had the fire reached the wharf alluded to with the wind in its favor, we should in all probability be called upon to chronicle as destructive a conflagration as the one which swept like a fiery tornado over our city last August. But, thanks to our brave and undaunted firemen, we are spared the unpleasant task, and Portland does not weep unavailingly over the loss of, perhaps, a million dollars worth of property.

Fortunately no vessel was lying alongside the wharf where the fire caught, else its total or partial destruction would have been inevitable. The bark Garibaldi, which was lying at the lower end of Flanders wharf, found it prudent to move out into the stream soon after the fire was discovered. She did not cast off the last line any too soon, as the heat became intense where the vessel was lying and before the wind could carry her beyond the reach of the fire, the foremast caught and was extinguished with considerable difficulty. However the fire was put out and the bark swung away from the wharf. When about the middle of the river the anchor was let go and the vessel came to rest.

Only a few weeks ago piles were driven along the edge of the water between the north end of Flanders wharf and the Salt Works, preparatory to building a wharf. In a few weeks more there would have been a continuous stretch of wharf for the entire distance. Had that been the case it is easy to predict the disastrous consequences of the fire. This new improvement would have furnished the material along which the fire could travel and gain the main wharf, when aided by a strong north breeze it could laugh at the puny efforts of the Department to arrest its destructive strides. But "all's well that ends well" and Portland narrowly escaped a third visitation of that justly dreaded monster.

THE LOSSES.

Considering the extent of the fire, the losses sustained are comparatively light. The building and wharf belonged to Mr John McCraken, but were old—having been built in 1857—and not worth much. There was a large amount of salt stored in the building at the time. This article was sacked and placed in compact, solid tier. Salt being a very poor conductor resisted successfully the action of the intense heat. The combined effects of fire and water destroyed the outside, but the damage did not penetrate far into the tier. It is thought that the outside portion will answer every purpose for curing hides and for stock, as the heat has not destroyed the saline properties of the article while all the interior, after removing several outside tiers, will be found comparatively free from damage. A large boiler and engine used to drive the machinery of the works are badly damaged by the fire; also considerable machinery in the upper portion of the building used for manufacturing barrels. A number of other articles including several large sewing machines were totally destroyed. As near as can be estimated at present, Mr McCraken's loss is about as follows: Machinery, engine, boiler, etc, $2,000; damage to salt, building, etc, $3,000; total $5,000; insurance (Home Mutual) $[illegible],000.

Mr Foster who occupied a portion of the building as a boiler manufactory lost about $800 worth of tools. The fire burst through into the back end of the shop before he could remove one half of his tools. It came so sudden and with such force that the intense heat drove every one out. Mr Foster had no insurance on his stock. Mr Fowler, a boat builder, whose shop was adjoining the one occupied by Mr Foster, lost probably $100 worth of rope and tools. Messrs [illegible] and Clinton also lost a number of carpenter tools. The total loss will not exceed $6,000.

THE ORIGIN.

The origin of the fire is not known. A Chinaman who is in the employ of Mr McCraken lodged in the rear part of the works but it is quite evident that the fire did not start from that portion of the building, as it was the last to catch. When first discovered the fire was burning fiercely near the engine, and just back of the shop occupied by Mr Fowler. A coal from a pipe or cigar from a man carelessly dropped, affords the best solution of the question as to how the fire originated.

Another Fire.

Flames from a burning building illuminated the northern heavens on Sunday morning about half past 12 o'clock. It was soon discovered that the flames emanated from the ice house of Mr George Kallich, which stands in the northern suburbs of the city at the end of Thirteenth street across the gulch. When first observed the building was nearly enveloped in a sheet of flame. Some time elapsed before the alarm was communicated to the more thickly populated portion of the city, by which time the building could not possibly have been saved. As it was too far gone and no other building stood near enough for the fire to communicate, the intention of taking out the engines was abandoned on account of the distance. This building was erected several years ago by Mr George Kallich and used for storing ice. It was a large-sized two-story wooden building constructed expressly for ice storing purposes and must have cost in the vicinity of $800. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary as no fire was ever used about the place. We understand that the building and contents were insured for $2,000.

SOME SYSTEM WANTED.

In times of peace prepare for war is an old saying, but it is nevertheless true and the history of the past fully demonstrates its correctness. This saying is just as applicable to protection against fire as in matters of war. Destructive fires come when least expected and when people are least prepared for such visitations. Such has been the bitter experience of Portland within two years past. Eternal vigilance should be exercised in regard to fires and every precaution taken to prevent their occurrence and to extinguish them at the earliest moment. It often occurs that a fire breaks out and destroys a large amount of valuable property simply because efforts are not timely made. Time is an important feature in this matter of putting out fire. A few minutes delay sometimes results in the destruction of much property. Now next in importance to necessary precautions against preventable fires should come some system of rules or arrangements by which the firemen could arrive at the scene at the earliest moment. All must agree that this is of the greatest importance. The fires which occur from time to time in Portland constantly demonstrates this deficiency. More than ever we observed the want of some system which would compass this desirable end at the time of the fire on Saturday. The great difficulty is that when the bells of the city ring an alarm whether by day or night the firemen half of the time do not know where to run. Unless the fire can be seen there is no means of determining where it is and citizens are just as liable to run in the wrong as the right direction. It would seem that the difficulty could easily be obviated by the Chief Engineer. Let Portland be divided off into as many districts as are convenient; or let the First, Second and Third Wards of the city serve as the limits of the districts. When a fire occurs for instance in the First Ward the person who rings the first bell should indicate by the manner of the alarm which ward the fire is in. The second bell which taps could indicate in like manner then the third, fourth and so on until every bell in the department would proclaim with a brazen tongue that the fire was somewhere in the limits of the First Ward. Every company would then know in which direction to run. When fire is discovered in the other wards of the city the same course could be adopted. This system of giving alarms would be of still greater importance as the fire alarm bell is soon to be placed in a tower in some central locality. Immediately after the alarm is given by any one bell of the Department and the locality of the fire indicated the city bell could take up the refrain and herald far and wide the news. We have merely suggested this as we believe it would be of great importance in the protection of property and add much to the efficiency of the present Department. One thing is certain: It would not cost the city one cent more and be a great improvement over the existing system. The plan is one which commends itself to the favorable consideration of every reasonable person. Will the Chief Engineer act in this matter and inaugurate some such non-expensive system as shall enable the Department to reach fires in the shortest possible time after the alarm is given?

BASE BALL NOTES.

We are called upon to-day to record the defeat of our boys. The game was played in East Portland. A large crowd was in attendance, among whom we observed the foremost base ball players in the city, merchants, bank clerks, printers, members of the press, the young and rising generation—vulgarly termed "hoodlums"—and to give the scene a pleasing aspect, quite a number of ladies were present, who took as great interest in the proceedings as any of the spectators. About 2:30 P M the nines appeared on the ground, the bases and pitchers position was fixed, the scorers were ready with pencil in hand to note the flies etc, the Captains of the nines tossed for choice, and finally the Umpire called play—the Bulletin boys wielding the willow. The game had commenced. Three were the total number of runs made which indicated that the OREGONIANS were awake and prepared to keep the score down. Our boys went in and ere the last man was put out had tallied ten. This was truly a brilliant opening for our boys. Eleven runs for their opponents in the second inning and three against it didn't look so well but a "goose egg" for the Bulletin boys in the third inning, was a stand off, the game at the close of this inning being even. From this to the eighth inning the Bulletin boys led, our nine seeming to have lost their grip. A change was effected for the better in the eighth inning and our boys began to rally, but to no purpose, their opponents having a lead which, under the circumstances, was impossible to overcome. The betting was in favor of the OREGONIAN boys for days before the game and the confidence of their friends was unshaken until the fourth inning was half through. Though beaten our boys are not willing to quit the noble game. They do not consider this the end but propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer. We will not particularize but advise our boys to study the game thoroughly. It was evident by the play of the Bulletin boys that they had been trained and our boys must not be idle if they want to win the next two games. The umpiring of Mr R Bird proved to be satisfactory, and the demeanor of the players was gentlemanly throughout. It is not our duty to crow and we submit the appended score to the admiring gaze of the readers of the OREGONIAN here and elsewhere.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the matinee on Saturday afternoon a large number of ladies and children were present. The performance was really excellent and gave much pleasure to those who witnessed it. In the evening a fair audience was present to witness the "Child of the Regiment" and "Cool as a Cucumber," both of which were placed upon the stage with good effect and rendered in splendid style. Mrs Phelps and Mr Dudley did some fine acting and also Miss Morgan, Miss Pixley and Mr Simms, and we are gratified to note that their efforts to please met with deserved appreciation at the hands of the audience. This evening an extra bill is offered the public: "Katty O'Sheal," a fine Irish drama, in which Mrs Phelps will assume the role of the rollicking Katty, and the petite comedy of the "Maid with the Milking Pail," in which Mrs Phelps will appear as Milly, with songs.

Everything is quiet once more, the election excitement being over, and people can now avail themselves of the opportunity to buy their summer suits of clothing, the times being such as to warrant a general reduction in prices. COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our Empire City correspondent sends the following under date of July 7th:

Captain Hill of the Bremen takes charge of the new tug [illegible].

Captain Hamilton, an old resident, died at Marshfield on the 2d inst.

Dr C. F. Holden has been appointed health officer for this port, vice Tower removed.

Fourth of July was celebrated at Coquille City, Marshfield and Hall's Prairie in the usual manner.

The steamers La[illegible] and [illegible] arrived since the 1st inst. Sailed—schooners [illegible].

Number of arrivals for quarter ending June 30, 1[illegible]; departures 20; amount of coal shipped 13,000 tons; amount lumber [illegible],000 feet.

The son of John Lamb, of Coquille City (on the Coquille river) was drowned at that place yesterday morning while bathing. He was about 5 years old. The body was recovered.

The schooner being built at Marshfield for Captain Matson will be launched early in August. At North Bend the big ship is being planked. This vessel will be ready to launch late in August or early in September. Coos Bay has turned out many good vessels and the above will surpass previous efforts of our ship builders.

EXCITING SCENES IN THE SENATE

THE DISTRICT BOSS DEFEATED

Speaking of the nomination of A R Shepherd for Governorship of the District of Columbia and his prompt rejection by the Senate, the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun says:

The news flew like wildfire over the Capitol and within ten minutes the members of the House were flocking to the Senate Chamber to protest against Shepherd's confirmation. The Republican delegations from Ohio and Indiana made a united protest, and a large majority of both the Illinois and Iowa delegations did likewise. The Senate went into Executive session about 2:30 P M, and immediately the corridors about the Chamber were thronged with an excited throng. Boss Shepherd's headquarters were in Secretary Gorham's room, where he was surrounded by Delegate Chipman, Murtagh and half a dozen of his ring friends. A crowd of contractors and a number of the Clerks of the Board of Public Works were in the Senate corridor watching anxiously for the news from the inside. Senator Jones was continually flitting from the Senate Chamber to Secretary Gorham's room, carrying the intelligence to the Boss, and Gorham was eagerly active.

Occasionally Senators Patterson and Spencer came out and saw members of the ring in the corridors and they frequently paid their respects to Shepherd. There has never been more excitement over a nomination than there was to-day while the executive session lasted. Hundreds of people would step one in a tour through the Senate corridors and inquire what the latest news was from the inside. With the exception of the ring contractors and strikers I did not meet a man who was not anxious for Shepherd's defeat. Twenty or thirty members of the House remained on the Senate side until it was announced that Shepherd was rejected.

The fight in the Senate was bitter and noisy. Senators Sherman, Edmunds, Logan, Oglesby, Allison and Thurman made strong speeches against the nomination. Edmunds denounced it as an insult to the Senate and the country, and Logan declared that Shepherd would better grace a criminal dock than an office of honor. He said also that he had just returned from a visit to the Great West and he could assure Senators on his honor that there was more feeling among the people over the District ring robbers than there was on the currency bill. Billy Sargent was the man selected to fight the Boss battle. He started out with the determination to talk until the time for final adjournment (4 o'clock) was reached. This intelligence was conveyed to the House and Speaker Blaine, comprehending the situation, instantly announced to the House that it would be impossible for the enrolling clerks to complete their work by 4 o'clock. Thereupon a concurrent resolution was offered to extend the session until 6 o'clock. This was carried unanimously, and was instantly sent to the Senate, Chief Clerk McPherson bearing it. The doors were opened pro forma and the message from the House received. This of course took Sargent off the floor. The reading of the resolution was called for and was amended to extend the session to 7 P M. This amendment was carried by a large majority, and Sargent and his friends seeing that the fight was hopeless surrendered and allowed a vote to be taken. The result was a Waterloo to the ringites. Out of the 42 votes cast only six were for the Boss and 36 against. The six who voted for vindicating the Washington Tammany in the person of Shepherd were Clayton of Arkansas, Chandler of Michigan, Jones of Nevada, Patterson of South Carolina, Sargent of California and Spencer of Alabama. Matt Carpenter and several others dodged.

The moment the news of this crushing defeat was made public the ring strikers slunk away from the Capitol. The boss and his half dozen best friends slipped out quietly and hurriedly drove up town to the club house where, in sadness and not in silence, they sought to drown their sorrow and chagrin in deep potations. As soon as the vote on Shepherd was taken the other nominations were confirmed without much opposition. The Senate then took a recess until 7:00, and directed the Executive Clerk to notify the President that the nomination of Shepherd had been rejected and that the Senate was ready to receive further communication from him. When this announcement was made to the President he was terribly enraged and expressed his opinion of the Senate in terms more forcible than polite or complimentary. However he at once sent in the name of A. G. Cattell in Shepherd's place.

There is no doubt that Shepherd and the ring were confident of carrying a majority of the Senate with them. One of the prominent ringites offered to bet a thousand dollars a few moments before the vote was taken that Shepherd would be confirmed by a majority of ten votes. Preparations had actually been made on an extended scale for celebrating the triumph of the Boss. A battery of artillery had been planted north of the Capitol near the Government Printing Office and signals arranged to convey the intelligence of the Boss's confirmation, when a salute of 100 guns was to be fired. [illegible] orders that the Marine band was to be ready to serenade the Boss [illegible] and a grand entertainment [illegible] at the club house for the [illegible] which was confidently expected to be on hand. LIVER AND BLOOD DISEASES.

BY R. V. PIERCE, M. D.

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance which, therefore, remains to poison the blood and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc.—but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart and it fails to perform its office healthfully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, it is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels and other organs cannot escape becoming affected sooner or later, and we have as the result costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhea. Other symptoms are common, as bitter or bad taste in mouth, internal heat, palpitation, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, choking sensation in throat, bloating of stomach, pain in sides or about shoulders or back, coldness of extremities, etc., etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The liver being the great depurating or cleansing organ of the system—set this great housekeeper of our health at work and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood and rot out as it were the machinery of life are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with very small doses of Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of their terrors and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted systems may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great resolvents.

The work done by Congress at its late session, while not embracing all that might have been done, is nevertheless better than its enemies predicted. While no great amount of good has been accomplished, the wrongs perpetrated have been correspondingly limited in their effects. The civil rights bill failed to become a law, but is in good shape to be taken up and acted on at the opening of the next session. The currency bill, such as it is, has become a law. The revised statutes have been adopted. The appropriation bills have all been passed. The new revenue bill has been adopted, leaving out the tax on sales of stocks and bonds, much to the relief of the stock-jobbers, who were too many for Congress to grapple with. The taxes have not been increased or reduced; but the newspapers of the country have been saddled with the prepayment of postage, whilst congressional documents may go through the mails without being prepaid, which is half-and-half restoration of the franking privilege. The Geneva indemnity fund is to be distributed to the extent of reimbursing those whose claims are undisputed, leaving to the insurance companies the right to resume their importunities next winter for the share they claim. They will be on hand promptly. The moiety system of rewards for detecting frauds on the revenue has been abolished, and a system of small rewards, the highest limit being $5,000, substituted in its place. The Sanborn contract bill was repealed, and the present Government of the District of Columbia abolished, but no provision was made for putting down polygamy. There were no railroad bills or subsidy grants passed, nor has there been any serious change in the laws other than as we have noted. The transportation issue resolved itself simply into an appropriation for the survey of four water lines from the interior to the seaboard. It will take quite two years to complete the surveys.

The Tonnage Question.

This is perhaps a matter now of as much interest to our State as any other, but is one upon which it is the most difficult to make estimates of the probable requirements for the next year. There is no assurance that growers will part with all their surplus. That will depend more largely than ever on the market price. The present outlook indicates a low range for Wheat in the European market and high rates of transportation hence. Most of our farmers are in a better condition to hold back their crops than they have been in at least three years, and it is natural to suppose that they will keep their grain rather than to accept unremunerative rates.

A late number of the San Francisco Bulletin, in an article on this subject, says:

The volume of tonnage required will also depend much on the proportion of Flour shipped, and the number of vessels withdrawn from this port to move the Oregon crop. It is feared that the large export trade in Flour to Great Britain in 1873-74 will not be maintained on account of the poor quality of some of the shipments, and the prejudice against the business of importing from so great a distance caused by such shipments. On the other hand, the high rates of freight are in favor of a continuance of the Flour export trade, since the relative cost of transportation between Wheat and Flour is decidedly in favor of Flour. As to the amount of tonnage likely to be withdrawn from San Francisco for Oregon, it is perhaps safe to say that the quantity will be fully as large as during the last season. We shall certainly need 500,000 tons of tonnage for the year ending June 30, 1875, but whether that quantity will be employed is another question, dependent on the contingencies already noticed. It is possible that employment may be given for 550,000 tons. The statement has been made that there is 400,000 tons of tonnage now headed for San Francisco, due here by the 1st of January, 1875. We do not believe it. There is less than 200,000 tons known to be on the way here. In the last six months of 1873, the sail tonnage of arrivals at San Francisco amounted to 259,000 tons including a large number of vessels in ballast, against 248,000 tons in the last six months of 1872. We shall do well to get 300,000 tons on the last six months of this year. During the past six months we have only had 150,000 tons. Most of the vessels now on the way here are known to be chartered to arrive at an average of 80s and upwards. There is no great surplus of disengaged tonnage suitable for the California Wheat trade in any port in the Pacific or Atlantic oceans, and there need be no fears but what we shall want all the tonnage that can be crowded into the harbor in the next six months. We hope there may be 400,000 tons received by the end of the year. The more Wheat we can get off in the next six months the better it will be for those who are interested in its export.

While we have no idea that Oregon will be fortunate in securing an excess of tonnage for her large crop of grain, we are led to hope that the supply will be such that all, or nearly so, of the surplus will be worked off. Last year, at this time in the season, the tonnage under way for this port was not near so large as at present, and yet our State has seldom succeeded so well in getting all her exportable commodities off her hands at fair prices as since that time.

Miscellaneous.

Latest advices from the interior of our State say the fall wheat is filling out finely.

New wheat is now reaching the San Francisco market in large quantities. It sells at $1 65 per cental.

Thirty two vessels were chartered in San Francisco to load wheat at Portland during the past year, mostly barks or vessels under 800 tons of tonnage, the whole number representing 23,100 tons of tonnage. This was a comparatively new element in the business at that port, and reduces the total amount actually engaged on California account to 392,100 tons.

The rate at which the bark Achievement just sailed from this port for Liverpool was chartered was £4 12s 6d. A vessel chartered at the same place for the same voyage and the same date last year was paid £5.

The amount of tonnage chartered at San Francisco for the year ending July 1st inst. was 415,200 tons, against 444,000 tons for the year previous.

Eighty thousand pounds of wool have been received at Corvallis so far this season, and it is thought that as much more will be marketed there.

The Marysville Savings Bank pays an interest of 1 per cent. a month to all depositors.

The latest charters from San Francisco to England with wheat were effected at £4 per ton.

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Sidlaw, hence for Dunkirk via Queenstown, passed Psawle's Point, England, June 24th.

The steamship Ajax left San Francisco for this port to-day, bringing her due on Tuesday evening next.

The barkentine Webfoot having completed her cargo of lumber, took her departure for San Francisco this evening.

The schooner Katie Heron will sail for Tillamook in a day or two.

The schooner Superior has sailed for Puget Sound ports with a cargo of produce.

The bark Garibaldi suffered trifling damage from the sparks falling from the burning building into her rigging this afternoon. During the conflagration she was drawn out into the stream where she now lies.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is still very quiet, and we hear of but very few lots coming to hand at all. Occasionally a wagon load or two, hitherto held by farmers, reaches the market, and if perfectly clean and of choice quality may be placed with millers at $1 60@1 65 per cental, but these figures are greatly above true market quotations, which exporters give at $1 30@1 45. It is certainly considered that rates are not going to appreciate soon and buyers here, not having any vessels at hand to load, are by no means urging the market, nor do they appear at all anxious to contract for spot deliveries even at the present prices current. The weather is now highly favorable for maturing the new crop, and should it so continue harvest will begin in a fortnight or less.

FLOUR—The prices for best brands are kept up notwithstanding the low rates prevalent for the raw material, holders believing that the scarcity of wheat will enable them to work off all the stocks on hand before harvest. We quote standard brands of extra at $5 50 ⅌ bbl., while good country and outside brands are quotable at $5 and superfine to inferior at $4@4 75. The local trade is good, and some shipments to the San Francisco market are being made. The receipts during the past week have been very light.

OATS—The receipts of this cereal are steadily decreasing, and, with a limited local demand and some call for shipping, the quotations remain at 45c per bushel for choice lots, but if discolored or off the black variety must suffer a reduction of 5@7c. The roasters arriving during the week will take away a good portion of the surplus in this market, but it is thought that a very considerable quantity more than is necessary for home consumption could yet be had in the State if remunerative prices were offered.

BARLEY—A few small lots have changed hands during the past few days at $1 50 ⅌ cwt., sacks included, but they were of first rate quality, and common is quotable at $1 40@1 45. The crop of this grain will yield much larger in our State this year than ever before.

HAY—The new crop is beginning to make an appearance in the market, and is selling at $10 per ton loose. Prices are more likely to go still lower, than to advance.

FEED—The supply on hand here has become quite small, which accounts for the fact that notwithstanding the advance of the season prices are kept up to $14@15 ⅌ ton for bran, $16@18 for shorts and $18@20 for chops, middlings, etc.

POTATOES—The market is abundantly supplied with receipts of new crop, which sell at prices ranging from 37½@50c ⅌ bushel to jobbers. A failure of this crop in some portions of the country, by reason of the blight, leads to the expectation of higher prices during a period later in the season.

ONIONS—The market is quiet, but firm at 2½@3c ⅌ lb for choice lots of yellow, including sacks.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is slightly improved, and apples in kegs are worth 6½@7c ⅌ lb; in sacks, 6@6½c. Plums with pits are a drug in the market, but pitless are in fair request at 14@15c ⅌ lb.

BACON—The market in this commodity is in a somewhat anomalous condition. The supply is good, and holders of sides are firm in their rates, which are 9½@10c ⅌ lb, while hams and shoulders are both plenty and cheap, 200,000 lbs of the latter being offered in our hearing the other day at 8 cts, while hams are quotable at 13@14c. Our figures are for ordinary lots, choice being held at an advance. We include sides, hams and shoulders, all under the general name, as being the one most usually understood.

LARD—The receipts are not heavy and we quote good fresh Oregon, in tins from at 13@14 cts ⅌ lb; in kegs 12@13 cts.

BUTTER—Common qualities miserably put up and packed in all imaginable shapes are becoming too frequent for the good of the trade or the fair name of our State. Such can hardly be quoted. Good fresh roll commands 18@22 cents ⅌ lb. Choice 20@21 cts.

CHEESE—The receipts of Oregon made are light and importations supply, in large part, the local demand. We quote at 15@18 cts ⅌ lb according to brand.

EGGS—We note but little change in the market this week, prices being steady at 16 cts for shipping while 17a18 cts is paid by the local trade to supply retailers.

POULTRY—The market is in fair supply at our last quotations.

FRESH MEATS—The arrivals of sheep and cattle are increasing and are in better condition. Choice mutton sheep sell at $2 75@3 per head; common $2 25@2 50. Fat young steers command 5½@6 cts ⅌ lb on foot, according to the wants of the buyer. Common lots are worth 4½@5 cts.

HIDES—The supply on hand is quite large and lots of all descriptions are taken at the following rates: Dry, 15@16 cts; green, 6@7; culls, 12@13 cts.

WOOL—The receipts are very heavy, and at this time it is the chief product in the market. Considerable competition exists among buyers, and consequently the vendors are enabled to obtain the best possible figure for their produce. Best qualities are selling readily at 28@30 cts ⅌ lb; common, 20@25 cts ⅌ lb.

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Mowers: Buckeye, new model, $135; Buckeye No. 2, $110; Buckeye No. 1, $155; Buckeye Self-Raker, $250; Hand Raker $225; Buckeye Dropper, $[illegible]; Clipper No. 2, $[illegible]; No. 3, $140; No. 1, $150; No. 5, $175. MEDICAL.

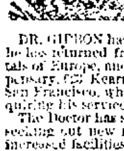
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are [illegible] existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and distorted features and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation they [illegible] suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying [illegible] see that they are cared for and cured [illegible]. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, [illegible] physician who has made private diseases his [illegible] study for years, and who is certain to [illegible] a speedy and certain cure, without mercury or any [illegible] drugs. It is important to those who [illegible] or to those who are interested in the welfare [illegible] or friends, to be careful of the many [illegible] who infest all cities, publishing [illegible] all the [illegible] in a few days, [illegible] public by using the names of eminent [illegible] from Europe and other places. Be therefore [illegible] and make strict inquiry, or you may fall [illegible] hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Emissions, [illegible]

This solitary vice [illegible] of self-abuse, [illegible] indulgence is [illegible] to an almost unlimited extent [illegible] following certain [illegible] symptoms, viz: [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears [illegible] like the [illegible] of leaves [illegible] confined vision, the loins, weakness of [illegible] diffidence in [illegible] intellect, [illegible] to form new approaching strangers [illegible] society, loss of [illegible] and various eruptions [illegible] fetid breath, [illegible] should [illegible] by letter, and [illegible] quacks.

Marriage, etc.

Or those who contemplate [illegible] who are suffering under any of the [illegible] should not forget the sacred [illegible] upon them, nor delay to obtain [illegible].

DR. GIBBON is [illegible] will give to each patient a written [illegible] himself [illegible] a radical and permanent cure, or makes no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post-office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications [illegible] confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco [illegible] and pretenders who, with bogus [illegible] assume the title of Doctors, whose names are to be found [illegible] and weekly newspapers of San Francisco [illegible] other places, are tradesmen and became [illegible] work at their trades. Some are the [illegible] newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible]. The only way to avoid imposition is [illegible] inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and [illegible] many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he promises to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post-office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN.
